Moses Was There with the LORD for Forty Days 34: 10-28

Moses was there with the LORD for forty days DIG: What were the key lessons God wanted to teach His people about His nature? About worship? Obedience? Covenant relationships? Separation from other peoples and their gods? Moses was again gone forty days. What do you think the Israelites did that time around as they waited for his return?

REFLECT: What rivals does God have for your attention? What, if anything, is standing in the way of your drawing close to Him? In other words, what needs to go? Moses fasted to draw close to God. How do you get close to Him? What is God trying to protect you from? How has God blessed your faithfulness and obedience?

Periodic renewals of the Sinaitic covenant were necessary throughout Israelite history (see Deuteronomy 5:2-3, 29:1; Joshua 24:25; Second Kings 23:1-27), and the first of them had to take place soon after the golden calf incident.<sup>711</sup> Then ADONAI said: I am making a covenant with you (34:10a). The verb translated making is actually the participle for the Hebrew word cutting. Bloodletting became such an integral part of covenant-making that the act became synonymous with making a treaty.<sup>712</sup>

Before all your people I will do wonders never before done in any nation in all the world. This was quite a statement when we consider whom He is talking to. These were the people who saw the Nile turn into blood and the ten plagues of Egypt, who saw the Red Sea part so they could escape and the mightiest army on the face of the earth obliterated, and were led through the desert by a pillar of fire by night and pillar of cloud by day, and now He was saying that they were going to see wonders that they had never seen before! The people you live among will see how awesome the work that I, ADONAI, will do for you is (34:10b). Many of the things He was about to say, He had said earlier in Chapters 20 through 23. What was emphasized here was that God's covenant with Moses, broken by the golden calf incident, was then going to be renewed. It was therefore understandable that strong emphasis was placed on the wickedness of the sin of idolatry. They were to obey what God had commanded them that day (34:11). These verses were a preamble or introduction to the terms of the covenant that follow in verses 12-18.

ADONAI promised to drive out the Amorites, Canaanites, Hittites, Perizzites, Hivites and Jebusites before them. This is the third time He has mentioned this. But He warned them to be careful not to make a treaty with those who lived in the Promised Land, because they would become a snare to them. Isra'el was to break down their altars, smash their sacred stones (probably representing male gods) and cut down their Asherah poles (symbols of the Canaanite goddess Asherah). Do not worship any other god, for ADONAI, whose name is Jealous, is a jealous God (34:11-14). We think of jealous as a negative term. What is He jealous of? Everything! Our time. Our thoughts. Our heart. Or anything else that gets in between Him and you. But actually, the meaning here of Him being jealous is that He can tolerate no rivals and is zealous for your worship of Him. He does not want to share His honor and glory with false gods.

Political alliance and intermarriage with Canaan inhabitants was strictly forbidden. Be careful not to make a treaty with those who live in the Promised Land. This was not because of a lack of neighborliness or for ethnic or racial reasons but because when they prostituted themselves to their gods and sacrificed to them, the Israelites would eventually eat their sacrifices and accept their gods. And if the Canaanites chose some of their daughters as wives for Hebrew men and those daughters prostitute themselves to their gods, they would lead your Hebrew men to do the same (34:15-16). As a result, they would be led back into spiritual adultery. They were warned not to make any cast idols, like the golden calf, again (34:17).

The land of Canaan was covered with idolatry just like a dog is covered with fleas. The land was filled with gross immorality, and YHVH was warning Isra'el to keep herself separate from them. Isra'el was either to destroy them or drive them out of the land. The critics down through the years have criticized this. Apparently, they have not investigated the reason for this extreme measure. Of course, the obvious reason is that God was protecting His own from the horror of idolatry. But there is another reason. It is known today that venereal disease was in epidemic proportions among the people of Canaan. ADONAI was attempting to protect His people from the ravages of disease. Isra'el disobeyed God and did not completely clear the land of those people and suffered the sad consequences. Finally, God had to send disobedient Isra'el into seventy years of Babylonian captivity.<sup>713</sup>

After having described the forms of worship Isra'el was to avoid, God reminded her of the proper observance of the three main annual festivals in their religious calendar, an emphasis that appeared earlier in the Book of the Covenant (23:14-17).<sup>714</sup>

Pesach lasted but one day and was to be observed in Abib (March-April), the month of the exodus (34:18). It was followed immediately by the Feast of Unleavened Bread for a total of seven high holy days (Exodus 23:15; Leviticus 23:4-8; Deuteronomy 16:1-8). Then God reminded Isra'el of her obligation to rest on the Sabbath. He said: Six days you shall labor, but on the seventh day you shall rest. That meant that they needed to rest even during the two busiest times of the year, the plowing season and the harvest season (34:21).<sup>715</sup> In addition, when these two terms are used together in the TaNaKh they symbolize the entire calendar year (Gen 45:6; 1 Sam 8:12). Thus, they were prohibited from working on any Sabbath during the whole year. There were no exceptions.<sup>716</sup>

Then they were to celebrate Shavu'ot with the firstfruits of the wheat harvest, and lastly, the Feast of Ingathering, or Sukkot, at the turn of the year. In order to bind the nation together in religious worship, all males were to appear before the Lord, ADONAI, God of Isra'el three times a year at the feasts of Pentecost, Tabernacles and Passover. The Lord promised to drive out nations before them and enlarge their territory and that no one would invade their land when they went up three times each year to observe the three annual festivals (34:22-24). They didn't need to worry. If they were faithful, God would be faithful and in turn their faithfulness and obedience would lead to national unity and strength.<sup>717</sup>

They were also to obey all of the festival regulations that were quoted from previous sections of Exodus (13:12-13; 20:9-10; 23:18-19). Because of the tenth plague and the death of the firstborn, the Feast of Unleavened Bread was intricately connected with the dedication of all the firstborn. The first offspring of every womb belonged to the Lord, including all the firstborn males of your livestock, whether from herd or flock. The firstborn donkey with a lamb was to be redeemed, but if you do not redeem it, break its neck. All their firstborn sons were to be redeemed. No one was to appear before God empty handed (34:19-20). This practice was most appropriate because spiritually, Isra'el was the firstborn of God and free from the judgment of the final plague.

They were commanded not to offer the blood of a sacrifice along with anything containing yeast during the Feast of Unleavened Bread, and not to let any of the sacrifice from the Passover Feast remain until morning (34:25). God did not want the celebration of the feast separated from the death of the lamb. They were also to bring the best of their firstfruits to ADONAI, related to the Feast of Weeks, and were prohibited from cooking a young goat in its mother's milk (Exodus 34:26, 23:19; Deuteronomy 14:21).

Moses was commanded to write down a summary of the festival regulations that God had just given him. Then ADONAI rewrote the Ten Commandments as He had promised He would (34:1), and as He had inscribed the original tablets in the first place (34:27 and 28b).<sup>718</sup> In doing so, He was clearly revealing what He expected of them.<sup>719</sup> His message was clear. Despite Israel's sin, God was moving ahead with the redemption of the nation.

Just as he had done previously (24:18), Moses was there with God forty days and forty nights without eating bread or drinking water (34:28a). A similar fast had been kept on the previous occasion (Deuteronomy 9:9), though not mentioned in the Exodus account. Fasts of this extraordinary length are recorded only of Moses, Elijah (First Kings 19:8), and Jesus Himself (Matthew 4:2).<sup>720</sup> Moses was on the mountain and Christ was in the desert. Moses was receiving the Torah from God and Messiah was being tempted by Satan to reject the Torah. We can hardly know which was the greater wonder of the two: that Moses was permitted to spend a season in the presence of ADONAI, or that God would come down to be a friend of Moses for forty days.<sup>721</sup> So after receiving his instructions and the rewritten Ten Commandments, Moses made his way back down the mountain for the last time and put the tablets in the ark that Moshe had made for them (Deuteronomy 10:5).

Is your relationship with God not as close as it once was? Here is a story that will help you out. An older man and his wife went out for a drive. They came to a stop signal and while waiting for the light to turn green the wife noticed a teenage couple in the car in front of them. The boy was driving and the girl was just plastered to his side. It almost looked like one person. The wife turned to her husband and said, "Honey, I remember when we used to be like that. What happened? Her husband turned to her and said, "I haven't moved!" If you are not as close to God as you once were, guess who moved?
