The Death of Joseph

50: 22-26

The death of Joseph DIG: Why was it so important to Yosef that his bones be taken to Canaan when his people returned there? Of all the events in Joseph's life, why did the Holy Spirit pick this as an example of faith (Hebrews 11:22)?

REFLECT: Like Joseph, are you feeling positive about the future? Where do you need to be reminded of God's aid right now? What outstanding characteristics of Yosef's life would you like to make a part of yours right now?

Joseph stayed in Egypt, along with all his father's family. He lived a hundred and ten years, or fifty-four years after Jacob's death. The Egyptians viewed this figure as the ideal lifespan.⁸²⁵ There are twenty-seven references to this in Egyptian manuscripts. This was considerably younger than the age at which Abraham (a hundred and seventy five years), Isaac (a hundred and eighty years), and Ya'akov (a hundred and forty seven years) had died. Mankind's longevity was still declining after the Flood.⁸²⁶ Yosef did live long enough to know some of his great grandchildren. And he saw the third generation of Ephraim's children. Also the children of Makir son of Manasseh were placed at birth on Joseph's knees (50:22-23). Joseph may have lived long enough to see his great-grandchildren, but he would not live forever.⁸²⁷

In his final statement, Yosef then said to his surviving brothers, "I am about to die.

But God will surely come to your aid and take you up out of this land to the land He promised an oath to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob” (50:24). Joseph never had a direct divine revelation from ADONAI, yet he had faith in the word of God passed down from Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Yosef had faith in the promises of the Abrahamic Covenant (to see link click Ef - Abram Believed the LORD and He Credited It to Him as Righteous). The phrase to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob is found here for the first time in the Bible.

And once again a dying man required an oath from the living.⁸²⁸ Joseph made the sons of Isra’el swear an oath and said: God will surely come to your aid, and then you must carry my bones up from this place (50:25). The writer to the Hebrews tells us that the request to bring his bones up out of Egypt was in itself an act of faith (Hebrew 11:22). Of all the things that the Ruach Ha’Kodesh would pick out of the life of Yosef, it was this. It wasn’t that he refused to sin with Potiphar’s wife or that he was faithful in Potiphar’s prison. It was this: By faith Joseph, when his end was near, spoke about the Exodus of the Israelites from Egypt and gave instructions about his bones. Why was that so important? It was important because the promises of Isra’el are all wedded to the Land. In fact, the prophets mention the fact that in the future, the entire world will go to war over Israel’s claim to the land of Palestine, with Yerushalayim as her capital. Has this ever been more true than today?

The fulfillment of this was found in two writings. First, Exodus 13:19, which required the removal of his bones from Egypt; Moses took the bones of Joseph with him because Joseph had made the sons swear an oath (see my commentary on Exodus Cf - Moses Took the Bones of Joseph With Him). And secondly, Joshua 24:32, which records the burial of the bones of Yosef in the land of Isra’el: And Yosef’s bones, which the Israelites had brought up from Egypt, were buried at Shechem in the tract of land that Jacob had bought for a hundred pieces of silver from the sons of Hamor, the father of Shechem. This became the inheritance of Joseph’s descendants.

Like all of us, Joseph died- but he died at a full, ripe old age. So Joseph died at the age of a hundred and ten. And after they embalmed him, he was placed (without the fanfare of his father) in the coffin in Egypt (50:26). The definite article is used here, and literally reads, the coffin. His bones in the coffin would be a constant reminder to his descendants and those of his brothers that Egypt was not their home. One day they would all return to Canaan, just as ADONAI had promised.

The word for coffin is aron, the word used for the ark of the Covenant (Deuteronomy

31:26; Joshua 3:8; First Samuel 4:3-5). Later Jewish tradition did not miss the parallel between Joseph being placed in an aron, and the Ten Commandments also being placed in an aron (Deuteronomy 10:5). When Isra'el wandered in the desert they carried these two shrines with them. The one coffin contained the bones of the dead man Joseph, while the other ark contained the covenant of the living God. The rabbis said that when travelers saw the two side-by-side they would ask, "How does the ark of the dead come next to the ark of the Ever-living?" The answer was, "The dead man enshrined in the one, fulfilled the commandments of the other." The tradition goes on to document Yosef's supposed faithful observance of the Ten Commandments even though he lived before its announcement at Sinai. For example, Joseph's rejection of Potiphar's wife's advances is linked with the commandment about condemning adultery and coveting.⁸²⁹

The book of Genesis began with man in the garden of Eden and ends with him in a coffin in Egypt. Paradise had been lost and the world needed to be bought back from sin. Thus the groundwork has been laid and the transition is natural to the opening verses of Exodus, where ADONAI would raise up a new prophet and leader in His servant Moses.⁸³⁰

Haftarah vaY'chi: M'lakhim Alef (First Kings) 2:1-12

(see my commentary on Deuteronomy, to see link click Af - Parashah)

Dynasty begins as kingly rule passed from father to son. David lived on through Solomon his son, and David's house lives on through the reign of King Solomon. Both David and Solomon reign for a full 40 years. Thus, the dynasty of the line of Judah begins very promisingly with the passing of the heritage from father to son. To ensure Solomon's firm control, David instructs his son to beware of his enemies. Joab and Shim'i needed to be dealt with (First Kings 2:5-9) in order to secure lasting control. That dynasty continues today! Matthew's genealogy telescopes the generations into chunks of fourteen (the numerical value of the letters in David's name) - from Abraham to David, to Jeconiah, in the Babylonian exile, and another fourteen generations to Yeshua, son of Joseph by adoption.

B'rit Chadashah suggested reading for Parashah Vayechi:

Acts 7:9-16 (specifically verses 15-16); Messianic Jews (Hebrews) 11:21-22;

First Kefa (First Peter) 1:3-9 and 2:11-17

Salvation of our souls is the goal of our faith! The outcome of this goal will be revealed at the last day. Meanwhile, how do we prepare? In Isra'el's case, the eternal Land and seed heritage blessings must be obtained by faith, with the saving of the nation as the ultimate goal (Romans 11:25-27). For Isra'el and believers alike, our inheritance is reserved, and the Ruach Ha'Kodesh has been given to use as a deposit, guaranteeing what is to come (Second Corinthians 5:5). Until then, we wait with joy to inherit the blessing (First Peter 1:8). Even the valuable things in life, such a fine gold, are perishable (First Peter 1:18). But faith/trust/belief in Yeshua, like the inheritance for which it waits, is indestructible and eternal. Trust is perfected through all kinds of trials (First Peter 1:6b-7), and it evokes praise, honor, and glory when Yeshua Messiah is revealed for the saving of souls (First Peter 1:8-9).

At the end of Genesis (as well as at the end of the five books of Moshe), the rabbis have inserted the following words at the end of the text:

Hazak, hazak, v'nit'chazek!

Be strong, be strong, and let us be strengthened!
